

Ron Riesenbach, BSc, MSc, MBA, P.Eng

Chief Information Officer

Ontario Telemedicine Network

Mr. Riesenbach's broad career has focused on the management and application of information technology to improve economic prosperity and quality of life. He has worked as a research scientist, technology manager, academic program director, high tech entrepreneur, and most recently Chief Information Officer at the Ontario Telemedicine Network.

Mr. Riesenbach brings extensive experience in the management of technology from the active role he played in the on-line transformation of other sectors including finance, manufacturing, telecommunications and publishing. Mr. Riesenbach is a Professional Engineer, holds an MSc in Electrical Engineering and an MBA. He is an avid jogger, husband and father to three brilliant boys, and in his free time consumes fat tomes on evolutionary biology and natural history.